THERE is no trick or smartness to sell goods on credit!! Any one can do that and do it easily in any town or city in this great country!! The smartness of the credit stores consists in having good, cheeky, persistent collectors, who will not take "No" for an answer!! Such chaps are scarce tho!!! Does the Credit store collect all the outstandings? We wot not!! Who pays for those never-to-be-collected outstandings? You do, the honest payer!! Common sense will tell you so, or the Credit store would die its own natural death inside of sk months!! It takes a man such as Crawford to sell his goods for Cash!! One who does business on the pure superfority of his goods!! Their prices, when compared with Credit store prices!! The quick turn over of an always well selected and varied stock, necessitating the hourly and daily strikal of fresh, new goods!! The saving of thousands of dollars per annum on Credit clerks. Bookkeepers and Collectors!! Who does the largest Cash business in this city? Crawford's, of course!! Ask Johnny!!

TO START A BANK WITH FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

BAKER GRABER PERFECTS ARRANGEMENTS.

He Will Conduct the Enterprise Among His Fellow Merchants on Carr Street.

"Can a man go into the banking business in St. Louis with $5,0007" Walter L. Graber, He statement announcing his intention to start a private bank with form capital stock Banks of this kind are common in smaller towns, but very usus and in large cities, where there is so much competition. It will be the only private bank in the city of St.

Mr. Graher's institution will be conducted under a section of the statutes of the corperation laws of Sussouri which provides that any person or company of persons may vate bank, provided the capital stock is not less than pose. Morris G. Levisson is the atterney before whom Mr. Graber made his acknowledgment. He stated that Mr. Graber's idea in the sporating for only $5,000 is that he does not core to have lying idle in the bank more money than the statute actually required, and 40 $5,000 is the minimuch amount which a private banker must have invested in cash, he begins with that amount, but should fortune favor him in he banking business, he is prepared to inthe banking business, he is prepared to increase the capital to a considerable extent.

Mr. Graber at present communes a bakery at No. 715 Carr street and a drug store at No. 715 Carr street. He denis with a large number of Jewina merchants in his neighborhood, and expects that his business will come from that class of people. He came to St. Louis from Russia fifton years as and went to work in a bakeshop. He had nothing to begin with, it is said, but through frugality and his appreciation of what a dollar means he seem had emough means to start a bakery of his own. About two years ago he ejested a drug store across the street. It prospered and now he is starting into the banking business.
